The permanently snow-capped Mount Kilimanjaro is the tallest free standing mountain in the world. This is our hardest challenge of them all, only apply if you think you have what it takes! Climbing Kilimanjaro requires exceptional determination and is a huge personal challenge. The spectacular views are only out-done by the sense of achievement you feel when you have reached the summit, making it a real experience to remember. Once you have completed the climb you can relax on an incredible safari before taking on two weeks of voluntary work in local Tanzanian communities, where you can make a real difference.
